

Case Report

A young man was referred with red eye and photophobia five days after photorefractive keratectomy (PRK). Attached we are presenting his first slit photograph, confocal scanning and final slit photograph. Would you please mention your differential diagnoses and management to reach his final slit photograph?

